4. Write a sentence with "my sister" as the IO.

PART 3.

In this passage, certain sentences have been underlined and numbered. Each question consists of a sentence pattern. Circle the appropriate letter.

I bet your morning habits are a lot like mine. However, it takes a while for me to get going. My mom wakes me in the morning at 6:30 a.m. I usually do not get out of bed until 6:45 a.m. I like my pillow too much. I then run down the stairs to beat my sister to the shower. She is quicker than me usually. I have to beat her to the shower; otherwise, I have to wait for almost a half hour. She takes a long time. Finally, when it is my turn, my mom gives me a towel. I like the towel with the seashells on it. It is my favorite. I only spend about 5 minutes in the shower. After that, I brush my teeth. I also take care of other personal stuff. Picking out the right clothes is difficult for me. I wish I were like my dad. He is a dentist. He doesn't have to think about his clothes because he wears the same outfit every day – at least that's what it seems like to me. After I get dressed, I eat a hearty breakfast. Then, I am happy. By then, my bus arrives. And the next day, I start my pattern all over again.

PASSAGE 1

Bricks may be the oldest building material on Earth, and they were probably discovered by accident. ¹ The Empire State Building has more than 10 million bricks, and the Great Wall of China has almost billion. Homes, factories and roads can all be built of brick, but the first bricks ² were probably formed when somebody realized that it could be used for building. It was probably discovered along a river, such as the Nile River in Egypt. The oldest sun-dried brick, ³ which is about 10,000 years old, is from beneath the biblical city of Jericho and is about 10,000 ⁴ years old.

PASSAGE 2

The California gold rush of 1849 attracted thousands of prospectors. "Go west young man!" was the cry. Levi Strauss left New York in 1853, and he went west to San Francisco, where he ¹ planned to sell canvas for tents and Conestoga wagon covers to the prospectors. He soon realized that hard-working prospectors needed sturdy work pants. Levi had a tailor make some ² pants from brown canvas. Soon, people were talking about "Levi's jeans." When the canvas ³ was gone, Levi switched to denim, another sturdy fabric. Today, whether your jeans are from Calvin Klein, JC Penney's, or your local department store, thank Mr. Strauss. He had the idea ⁴ first, and everyone else came in second.
